

How Flowers Grow

1. Circle or cross out the water and sunlight pictures to show what you did to each section of your garden.
2. Draw a picture of what your plants looked like at the end of the experiment. You can print out a different page for each day of your experiment if you want to show how the plants changed with time.

